Mr. and Mrs. H. E. L. Pierce attended the Young Men's Christian Association convention in Richmond.

The leap-year reception at Masonic Hall on Thursday night was one of the most delightful social events of the season. The idea originated with Misses Fannie Harvie, Janie Smith, and Mattie Clark, and Mrs. T. A. Weller took the lead and managed the affair like a chieftain.

The guests assembled at 9:30 o'clock, and Misses Smith, Clark, Harvie, and Rison, Floor Committee, distributed lovely little soutenir programmes. The musicians touched their harps, and the dancing was begun with a grand march, led by Mr. O. N. Neal. The men, of course, sat like demure maidens about the walls, and the giris did the courtesies of the occasion. There were waltzes, polkas, lanciers, and the old Virginia reel. At 12 o'clock refreshments were served from the stage by the ladies, and ices and other delicacies were brought to the men by dainty hands. After this there was a charming german, which was led by Miss Maria Silden.

The hall had been beautifully decorated and the scene was brilliantly beautiful. All the guests were delighted with the evening's enjoyment, and the men are grateful to the dear girls for the splendid entertainment.

Mathews Courthouse, February 20.—The leading social event of the season was the charming dancing party given at Mrs. Sleet's hotel by the young men of the village and vicinity Wednesday night. At precisely 9 o'clock the airy figures of the dancers, responding to the inspiring music of the West Mathews band, began to trace the mazy round of the waltz. At 11 o'clock the festive youths and maidens repaired to the supper-room, where their well-whetted appetites did full justice to the meau. Among those present were the Missos Browne, in black lace and cream mull; Miss Clara Miller, black silk and garnet ornaments; Miss Ellen Byrd Miller, blue cloth; Miss Helen Miller, tan silk; Miss Mattie Baker, of Richmond, white mull; Miss Mamie Davis, of Richmond, blue silk; Miss Masie Nies Winder, red cashmere; Miss Hattie Ransome, brown cloth: Misses Irene and Rowena Hudgins, black lace and blue silk. Mr. Joseph C. Harris, living near Poplars, Nelson county, is 81 years old, and still the blood of the old Virginia fox-hunter courses through his veins with unsubdued ardor. He and a party of gentlemen followed the hounds until dark one day this week. Later on the moon rose and Dr. Perrow, of Lovingston, with a few others, determined to indulge in the sport a little longer. They soon started a fox, who led them near Mr. Harris's house about midnight. The old gentleman, hearing the familiar paying of the hounds, immediately joined the huntsmen, and maintained his position in the van of the party close upon Reynard's trail during the greater part of the night.

Pamplin City.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

Pamplin City, February 20.—A leap-year party banquet, one of the most pleasant of the season, was given by Mrs. Mary E.
Mason, of this place, on Wednesday evening last. The ladies as escorts and dispensers of good things acted their parts in a masterly manner. It was a departure from the regular order, and was amusing as well as highly entertaining. The young men would be profited by following their suave and gentle examples. The tables were replete with good things, and full justice was done the menu. The festivities were kept up until a late hour, and the girls went home with the boys in the morning.
